MSc European Forestry

The Master of Science in European Forestry (MSc EF) programme is a high profile Erasmus+: Erasmus Mundus Joint Master Degree programme in the field of forest sciences. The objective of the MSc EF programme is to educate professionals who have a thorough understanding of the sustainable forest-based bioeconomy and the European business culture.

The MSc EF programme consists of 120 ECTS of obligatory and elective studies provided by the MSc EF consortium universities. The first year of studies is mainly completed at UEF, and the second year at one of the other consortium universities in Europe.

CONSORTIUM OF LEADING UNIVERSITIES

All the MSc EF consortium universities are internationally recognised for their high quality of research and education. We are located in different parts of Europe, covering a variety of landscapes and cultures: University of Eastern Finland, Finland; AgroParisTech, France; University of Lleida, Spain; University of Freiburg, Germany; University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences, Vienna, Austria; and Transilvania University of Brasov, Romania. We also collaborate closely with: Federal University of Paraná and São Paulo University in Brazil; University of British Columbia and University of New Brunswick in Canada; and Northwest A&F University and Chinese Academy of Forestry in China, as well as with several forest institutions, organisations and companies around Europe.
